

The Other Sunken Bridge: Capell Creek Bridge

Capell Creek Bridge is a newer concrete bridge built in 1941 and is located adjacent to the Capell Launch Ramp. It has also been underwater since the lake filled. However, it did surface during the drought of 1991-1993.

Capell Cove Bridge
Normally Underwater
Last Seen in 1993

Capell Cove Bridge 1991
(Near Capell Launch Ramp)